Freedom of Information (FOI) Response

Request: the latest data on the number of early childhood education providers who have applied for the Worker Retention Payment:

Response: As at 28 January 2025, 1576 Early childhood Education and Care (ECEC) providers had applied for the Worker Retention Payment.

Note: Providers can submit more than one application form for the Worker Retention Payment, so the number of submitted applications may be higher than the number of providers that have applied.

Request: the latest data on the amount of money that has flowed through to providers:

Response: As at 28 January 2025, $37,973,255.21 in Worker Retention Payment funding has been disbursed to ECEC services covered by Worker Retention Payment grant agreements.

Request: the latest data on the number of early childhood educators who have or will receive a pay rise as a direct result of their employer being approved for the Worker Retention Payment:

Response: As at 28 January 2025, the services covered by Worker Retention Program grant agreements employed around 31,000 ECEC workers who are eligible for the wage increase.

Note: This number of workers is an estimate based on self-reporting by applicants in their Worker Retention Payment applications. Worker Retention Payment grant conditions require providers to:

- engage workers through legally enforceable workplace instruments that oblige the provider to pay the wage increase, and
- pass Worker Retention Payment funding through to workers to ensure they receive the wage increase.

The above results are correct as at 28 Jan 2025 Time: 11:55 A.M.

List of all providers who have applied for the Worker Retention
Payment
