

Higher Education
Gender-based Violence Regulator

A new law for student safety

Australian Government

Higher Education
Gender-based Violence Regulator

What is gender-based violence?

Any physical or non-physical violence or abuse against someone based on their gender, that harms, controls, or causes fear.

What's changed?

A new law, called the National Higher Education Code to Prevent and Respond to Gender-based Violence (National Code), has been introduced that requires higher education providers to prevent and respond to gender-based violence, wherever it happens, including in student accommodation.

Who will enforce the new rules?

A new Higher Education
Gender-based Violence Regulator is in place to make sure the law is followed, strengthening protections for students.

Need support?

If you've experienced gender-based violence, your provider can support you.

Men with concerns about mental health, relationships or using or experiencing family violence can call MensLine Australia on 1300 78 99 78 or visit mensline.org.au.

If you or someone you know has been affected by gender-based violence and need to talk to someone, you can call 1800RESPECT (1800 737 732) confidentially or visit 1800RESPECT.org.au.