14. As Clontarf targets only young men there has historically been some media criticism around ensuring commensurate funding to girls' initiatives. NIAA funds related initiatives for girls, and for students of any gender, with the majority of support being non gender specific. Across both the department and the NIAA's funding, there is largely parity in male and female specific commitments.
15. Some Indigenous education stakeholders provided criticism of the lack of transparent process for providing additional funding through the 2020–21 Budget decision, without similar opportunity for Indigenous organisations. The department continues to work with key Indigenous education stakeholders to strengthen partnership and shared decision-making in line with commitment under Closing the Gap.

16. As Clontarf targets only young men there has historically been some media criticism around ensuring commensurate funding to girls' initiatives. NIAA funds related initiatives for girls, and for students of any gender, with the majority of support being non gender specific. Across both the department and the NIAA's funding, there is largely parity in male and female specific commitments. It will be important that any funding decisions for Clontarf Foundation are made holistically with consideration for girls academy funding (equivalent programs for girls) administered by NIAA.
17. Some Indigenous education stakeholders provided criticism of the lack of transparent process for providing additional funding through the 2020–21 Budget decision, without similar opportunity for Indigenous organisations. The department continues to work with key Indigenous education stakeholders to strengthen partnership and shared decision-making in line with commitment under Closing the Gap.
